

Mandarin to provide broadband for PGA European Tour

Published: Monday 28 February 2011 | 11:19 CET, Telecompaper

Italian Wimax provider Mandarin has been selected as the official supplier of broadband services during the PGA European Tour in Sicily. The golf courses will have broadband from March 17 to 20 at the Donnafugata Golf Resort in the province of Ragusa. Mandarin has been selected as the fixed network is inadequate to meet the connectivity needs of the event. According to Mandarin, this is the first time in Europe that broadband Wimax arrives at golf courses. The broadband access will be used not only for the press room, but also to serve the players (in the lounge) and the organizers of the event. Mandarin will distribute its new personal hotspot and Wimax USB dongle.
